A WEEK AT AUCTION.—The Detroit Press tells this: About a week ago, a woman named Gathier, living in the Sixth Ward, met a male acquaintance on Gratiot street and complained to him that she was out of flour and wood, and almost discouraged. He told her she ought to marry again, and she said she couldn't find a husband. "I'll sell you an auction," he continued, "and we'll put in a proviso that the highest bidder shall court you for a week in order that you may know him."

The woman laughing consented, and the man launched a box and began crying out. A crowd assembled at the stated facts of the case, saying that he had known her for years; knew her to be industrious and of good character, and then he opened the sale. Bidding was lively and everybody in great humor.
In the crowd was an old bachelor named Peter D. Joslyn, boarding on Maple street, and he was the only one who took the joke as a real fact.

He jumped the bidding from 43 cts. to 75, and then raised it to $8. The auctioneer cried "last call" on that figure, and the widow was "knocked down." Joslyn handed her the money, agreed to the proviso, and then treated the whole crowd, none of whom had a thought that a marriage would take place. One day, however, take place yesterday morning, after the terms of the proviso had been faithfully carried out. And while it is quite certain that Joslyn has found a good helpmate, the bridegroom's friends say that he is sober, steady, good tempered and well off.

SLEEP AS A MEDICINE.—A Physician says the cry for rest has always been louder than the cry for food. Not that it is more important, but it is often harder to obtain. The best rest comes from a sound sleep. Of two men or women, otherwise equal, the one who sleeps the best will be the most moral, healthy and efficient. Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness, uneasiness. It will restore to vigor an overworked brain. It will build up and make strong a weary body. It will cure headaches. It will cure a heartache.
It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow. Indeed we might make a long list of nervous and other maladies that sleep will cure. The cure of sleeplessness requires a clean, good bed, sufficient exercise to produce weariness, pleasant occupation, good air, and not too warm a room, a clear stomach, a clear conscience, and avoidance of stimulants and narcotics. For those who are overworked, haggard, nervous, who pass sleepless nights, we commend the adoption of such habits as shall secure sleep; otherwise life will be short, and what there is of it sadly imperfect.

A SOCIAL MONSTRITY.—The prepu-dence of woman over men, in New England, has long been a matter of comment—sometimes of jest and sometimes of concern, in accordance with the disposition of the speaker. But this social fact, which is a really serious aspect in regard to the future of the Eastern States, has suddenly developed a phase which the wildest theorist never suspected. One hundred and sixty women of Lowell, described as "respectable," have petitioned the Legislature of Massachusetts to legalize polygamy, to the extent of allowing a man to take a second wife whenever he can obtain the consent of the first. This latter provision indicates a marvelous, and, we imagine, a misplaced confidence in female humanity. The men who never bring into the household a second "betterment" until the original possessors of that title give their consent, are likely to remain monogamists as long as human nature remains as it is.—[Apples-ton's Journal.]

Mrs. HARRIET BECKER STOWE, writing from Florida, says: "With suitable instruction, allegory, and yet be seen in the Legislature. They certainly would not be more grasping and voracious than many in the situation, and there is a fine openness about their manner of doing things that is prepossessing." Is that not a reflection upon the intelligence and capacity of the negro for such work?

A CITIZEN who deserves well of his country, had a large family to which additions were constantly being made.
One day one of his little boys was thus interrogated: "John, how many brothers and sisters have you got?" "I don't know," answered the boy. "I don't know," answered the boy. "I don't know," answered the boy.

A WORTHY Kentucky farmer being asked if a daughter recently married was living with him, replied: "No, no, when one of my girls swarms she must hunt her own live."

A YOUNG lady recently, on being requested to sing "The Maiden's Prayer," immediately favored a Rockford audience with "Mother, may I go out to swim?"
